WILMINGTON UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS
HEALTH SCIENCES

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course focuses on the integration and practical community/global health principles and conceptual bases for community health. S community-based experiences in community assessment. This course requires a to five (35) hours of community learning with twenty (20) hours of experience at a fa approved community setting and an additional fifteen (15) hours during course-rel such as logs. , the student will be able t

1. Integrate teaching and learning principles into community h
2. Incorporate community and global health principles and con
3. Synthesize a variety of data to address components of comp assessment that focus on community-as-client.
4. Evidence critical thinking skills in class discussion, written and oral/voice/voice-enhanced presentations.

I. METHODOLOGY

A. Teaching Method Options

Readings, lecture, multimedia, discussion board, group acti

B. Evaluation Methods

Rubrics and grading criteria are provided for all assignment grading criteria before completing the assignments. Followi will optimize your efforts toward successful course complet

Syllabus is sole property of Wilmington University